A statement of spirits in and out of bond in New York on May 1 1871 exhibits the fact that out of 2 300 000 gallons of brandy in the country, but 100,000 gallons are the genuine products of fruits The remainder are compounds from distilled spirits

Some Gossip about Mr Vallandigham—His Aspirations and Disappointments

From a reliable sketch of Mr Vallandigham, written by "Mack" and published in the Chicago Republican, we quote the following paragraphs

"Mr Vallandigham would have been a great statesman if he had not been so great a politician He was fond of popular applause, fond of place, fond of power He was devoted to the Democratic Party because he believed himself to be the Democratic Party and because he always had faith in a great reaction which would come during his lifetime and give him fame and position Four years ago he felt well assured of a great seat in the United States Senate—which he had often told me was the goal of his ambition though I believe he would have regarded it rather as the stepping stone to the Presidency The election of Judge Thurman was the great disappointment of his life, It produced a wonderful change in his character making him more selfish more distrustful, and more venomous than ever Conversing with him on the subject a year ago, he said That thing can't be repeated The next Democratic Legislature of Ohio will elect me to the Senate or by the eternal God it will not elect any other Democrat I am tired of working for the benefit of others " This was in reply to a suggestion from me that Pendleton would be chosen in the event of a Democratic success this fall

There is a fact connected with the political history of the country during the administration of Andrew Johnson which I am astonished has never got into public print considering the activity and energy of modern journalism In the Spring of 1866 immediately after the veto of the Civil Rights bill Mr Vallandigham went to Washington inspired with the idea of revolutionizing the party politics of the time and restoring the Democracy to complete power He had gone so far as to draft articles of agreement in which it was stipulated that the President should give the patronage of the Federal Government in the different States to certain men therein named, who, in turn should actively exert themselves in behalf of the measures of the then existing Administration It is unnecessary to say that Mr Vallandigham's name figured conspicuously in the document as the leader of the Ohio Democracy I never saw the original of this but I saw what Mr Vallandigham said was a 'rough draft, of it I was in Washington at the time of Mr Vallandigham's arrival, he sent a note to me requesting me to call and see him which I did He told me what he had done—that he had called on the President, explained his mission, and left the document with him and asked me to call on the President that evening and get his views of the matter I complied but I found the President quite unwilling to agree to the terms of the contract He objected to the men who were named in it, and especially to Mr Vallandigham himself, as obnoxious to the people and likely to do more harm than good by their support of any Administration I called on Mr Vallandigham next day, and told him plainly what the President had said It seemed to excite him very much to be told that he was unpopular He insisted that he represented 2 000,000 of votes in the North, and that the support of these votes could never be obtained by any administration that disregarded him or consigned him to a back seat From that day forward he never liked Andrew Johnson

If his life may be called a failure—and measured by his aspirations I think it was—it was attributable in no small degree to his personal selfishness Said I to him one day, If you were as 'hail fellow well met as Sam Cox you'd be President of the United States, if the Democratic Party ever came into power His reply was a long dissertation on the causes of what I had called his unsociability or selfishness and it was to the effect that he had been badly treated—that he had not been advanced by the party in proportion to his deserts—that he had furnished the brains to make other men leaders, and that he was sick and tired of that sort of thing, and must henceforth look out for himself only

A LITTLE SWINDLER—The Boston Journal says The officers of one of our south end stations are much exercised as to what they shall do with a young girl about six years of age who, by her smartness bids fair to achieve somewhat of a local reputation even before she reaches her teens She is almost daily to be found straying about the streets bearing the appearance of a lost child her forlorn looks and appeals gaining her the sympathy and oftimes the aid of passers by She frequents the horse cars riding until the conductor in taking the fares finds her without a rip or tickets and she is either put off or else a policeman is called and she is taken to the station-house and then sent home only to be found on her travels the next day Yesterday the little fraud was in clover When the Odd Fellow lodges who lined in Boylston Hall marched into the building she accompanied them, and one of the brethren thinking her lost, out of sympathy secured her a seat at the table and after she had eaten all she wished he at her request, stepped aside to procure a lobster After the repast he carried her to a neighboring police station and was then made aware that he had been duped by a mere child The parents or the child take but little interest in her welfare

A dispatch from Washington states that 96 2 4 claims for pensions are yet pending, of which 26,955 are for service in the war of 1812, presented under under the recent act of Congress Seven thousand eight hundred and eighty five claims have not yet been reached at all The number of claims for service in the war of 1812 is prodigious and astonishing

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN STATES

The Tammany Thieves Celebrate

NEW YORK July 5 —The Fourth of July at Tammany Hall was celebrated in the usual manner The Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity with a Democratic throng a slight sprinkling of ladies and now and then a representative of the newly enfranchised element Mr Tweed first addressed the audience. He said, we propose to let all issues of the past die, to strike forward into a bright and noble career and once more to place power in the hands of those who have always in past time conducted the General Government in a manner satisfactory to the country Letters from a large number of prominent Democrats were read; among them one from Governor Hoffman which does not endorse the new departure, one from Gen McClellan approving the new departure one from Chas A Eldridge member of Congress, of Wisconsin in which he says it is of small consequence what amendments are made how they are made or enforced, while the Constitution in the very body itself its genius and spirit are ignored and discarded

Financial Matters

WASHINGTON July 6 —In the States where the percentage for assessing and collecting revenue is extremely high the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will recommend to the President further consolidation.

The Secretary of the Treasury to day called in one million of three per cents, of the denomination of $5 000, in numbers between 1 411 and 1,830 inclusive and one million in between numbers 1 739 to 1 844 inclusive leaving outstanding one million dollars Interest on these certificates ceases August 31st after which time they will be no longer available as legal money on reserve of any national bank

Cuban Affairs

NEW YORK, July 6 —Gen Frederico Cavada, who succeeded Gen Jordan as commander in chief of the Cuban army, was captured by the Spanish forces a few days ago and ere this has been murdered

BRUSSELS, July 5 —The Senate has adopted the law prohibiting gambling at Spa

From Porto Rico

PORTO RICO, June 30 —The election of Deputies to the Spanish Cortes is over The Conservative Spanish party elected Sanser ex Captain General of the island He was their candidate at the capital The Radical party elected ten members in the same district by immense majorities

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO July 6 —The bark B I M S was worth about $15 000 She was loading with sugar when she dragged anchors at Cerro Azul and went ashore Her cargo, which was a large one, was consigned to Parrott & Co and was fully insured in local offices

Arrangements for removing offices and directors and officers headquarters of the Central Pacific Railroad from Sacramento to San Francisco are completed and the removal will probably take place next week

It is reported that the speculation in archilla, which, so far as is known is the only marketable article produced in Southern California in the vicinity of Magdalena Bay, has already been overdone and the price is likely to fall so low as to preclude shipments, even where labor is obtained for nothing

There is a demand for more laborers in the harvest fields than can be furnished by the Labor Exchange Farmers from Sherman Island have been offering $1 50 per day and board for several days, without securing the number required

Augustus Laver, architect of the new City Hall makes affidavit in the injunction suit against the Commissioners that the building can be erected for one and a half million dollars

Ex Supervisor Canavan had a second attack of apoplexy last night and is in a critical condition

The Mayor and Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors were out to-day and examined the proposed site for the new city and county hospital, which is upon the hill this side of Bay View, in the southern part of the city, between the post house and Magdalen Asylum

Democratic Dissension

The New York Herald of June 23d, has an article showing that the Republicans everywhere are uniting on Gen Grant for a second term, and that the Democrats are more divided than ever We quote the last paragraph

The Democrats are anything but a unit on their new departure Down in Georgia following close upon the late never surrender speeches of Mr Jefferson Davis, we have Mr Alexander H Stephens, late Vice President of the "so called Confederate States "entering the fields of journalism on the old Southern rights platform of 1861 He has assumed the editorial charge of the Atlanta (Ga) Daily Sun and in his opening bow to the public he says — The Sun under my general control of its political course will continue to stand upon the principles of the platform of the Democratic party of the Union, as announced in in their last general Convention at New York in 1868 —that is to say Mr Stephens adheres to the resolution in that platform denouncing the whole reconstruction system adopted by Congress as unconstitutional, revolutionary null and void He holds, to the sovereignty of the States and that the rebel States having failed by war to keep out of the Union returned to the Union constitutionally as they were before the war Of course Mr Stephens has his Southern followers and we may safely assume that he and they are resolved upon a vigorous battle against this new Northern Democratic departure and the effect will be a division of the Democrats South, from a third party movement very much in that section to the advantage of General Grant

Nor is there anything approaching Democratic harmony in the North on this new departure We quoted the other day some of the denunciations of this movement from several bolting old line journals in Pennsylvania and from a corresponding committee of Chester county We have before us to-day a list of seventeen bolting Democratic journals in Ohio, including the Cincinnati Enquirer the Columbus Crisis and the Lancaster Eagle The new movement comes too late for 1872 The dissensions and the divisions already created by it North and South indicate a demoralization too extensive to be remedied even by the Presidential Democratic Convention on this platform If the party North has gone too far to recede the party South has gone so far that to a great extent it will secede Even in a general acceptance of the new amendments to the constitution the Democratic organization weakens itself in endorsing the reconstruction policy of the Republicans after fighting it as for life and death at every step from 1865 to 1871 From present appearances the coming fall elections will show no gains to the Democracy from their 'new departure, and will show too, that General Grant is booked for another term

The financial condition of Mississippi is very satisfactory to its people The total bonded debt of the State amounts to only $100,000 and this is held entirely by its citizens The floating debt is insignificant These are the facts. There is a floating Democratic slander that "Radical rule" has run the State in debt $8 000,000

An Immense Coal Land Suit

[From the Philadelphia Herald]

The Herald has already been informed of the attempt of certain parties to get possession of twenty nine tracts of 400 acres each of the Girard estate, situated in Schuylkill county and comprising some of the most valuable coal lands in Pennsylvania

The suit now in progress was brought by the heirs of a man who conveyed it in his lifetime to another man who in turn conveyed it to the late Stephen Girard—the assessed value of which at the present time is from $4,000 000 to $7 000,000 Mr Girard, at the time of his death owned 20 000 acres of land in this county, most of which is very valuable In many places the veins of coal are sixty feet thick but at the time it was bought it was not known that the land was so valuable and Mr Girard bought it for from forty to sixty cents per acre The developments made in late years have materially enhanced the value of the tract and at the present day there is absolutely no limit to its value The only method of computing it is to develop the coal

By a provision of Mr Girard's will the trustees of the estate are forever prohibited from selling any of the land He went further; he ordered that no leases be given for more than five years Owing to the fact that mining would not pay the lessees for that limited period the State Courts amended the will by allowing the trustees to lease the lands for a period of fifteen years, and at the present time there are ten different operations located on these lands now producing coal which since the time coal was first mined here in 1863, have raised 2 700 000 tons Although the Reading, Lehigh Valley and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroads are making strenuous efforts to control all the mining interests in the coal fields of Pennsylvania not one of these corporations has yet leased any part of the Girard estate The suit now being tried at Pottsville is really being engineered by the Lehigh Valley Railroad although brought ostensibly by the heirs of the first owners

Franklin B Gowen, President of the Reading Road, is one of the counsel for the Girard trustees, but has not as yet made an effort to lease any of these lands in the name of the road The leases, as before stated, are for fifteen years The royalty commences at 25 cents per ton and increases one cent per ton per annum during the lease, ending at 35 cents per ton

It is believed that the present leases are sufficient to occupy the ground unless the underlying value referred to should prove of good quality, further development, even in that case it may be good policy to deny The anthracite coal area is limited and is being rapidly absorbed by large combined operations, and is increasing in value At present only the best veins pay for working but the time is not far distant when those of inferior quality or difficult of access will command more royalty than the best do at this time. It is believed by far seeing experts in coal mining that in ten years from date the whole of the coal mining interest in Pennsylvania will be controlled by the Reading Lehigh Valley and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroads

Knowing Their Hand.

[From the Sacramento Union]

The Cincinnati Commercial is our authority for the statement that ex-Governor Aiken of South Carolina intends to present a claim on the Government of the United States for compensation for one thousand slaves lost by him during the late civil war The Commercial says he has made out a complete schedule in detail "of all his former slave property, showing the age sex, and market value of each, and that the whole amount foots up " nearly half a million dollars." He holds that the Government is bound to pay for what he lost by emancipation, and this view is shared by nine-tenths of the late slaveholders of the South The aggregate value of such claims upon the United States is readily reckoned If Aiken's 1,000 are worth $500 000, the whole 4 000 000 slaves emancipated would be worth just 4,000 times a half million dollars, or $2 000 000 000. The sum is just about as much as the interest bearing existing national debt and the simple proposition is to double the debt and compel the people of the loyal States, who gave their property to save the Union, to pay the rebels of the South for their effort to destroy the Union

This magnificent scheme waits on one single event—the transfer of the Presidency and Congress from the Republican to the Democratic party. Nothing can be done of course as long as the Republicans hold the keys of the treasury but should the Democrats get possession of them, then Aiken and Company will present their little bills, and there is good reason to believe that they would be entertained and upheld Why? does any one ask? We answer The Democrats hold (even under the "new departure) that the amendments including that emancipating the slaves were procured by "extraordinary means, that the Congress which passed them was not a full, and, therefore, not a constitutional Congress, that because it was not a constitutional Congress its acts enforcing these amendments were not legal and binding and that therefore, again, the masters lost their slaves without authority of law, by a sort of mob action, and the Government of the United States is bound to pay for all the damages they sustained

The South and the New Departure—The Republican Party Preferable

[From the Albany (Ga) News June 16]

The departure of the Northern Democracy from the true faith of the party should inspire the South, with a lofty sense of self respect and a profound regard for her own peace and material interest The tone of the Northern press toward Mr Davis, and through him toward the people of the South, is ample testimony that the Democrats of the North have no more love for us than have the Republicans, and should remind us of their villainous deception duplicity and treachery in 1860–61

About the only difference between a modern Northern Democrat with the new departure shell on his back, and a Northern Republican, is the difference between ins and outs, or tweedledum and tweedledee

Therefore, we hold that it is the duty of the South to stand firm by the faith of their fathers, adhere immovably to the principle of republican government and constitutional liberty, and say nothing till the two factions at the North have aligned for battle and sounded the advance

As between two opposing factions who are struggling for power and plunder only, and not for the preservation of the Government or the liberties of the people, and with neither of whom we can agree it may be wise in us to cast our lot with the most powerful and seek safety even in the tents of the wicked

We do not mean to turn Republican, but we mean to say that we have no friends at the North except for the strength we carry into the contest for the loaves and fishes that we believe the Democrats of the North are as corrupt as the Republicans of the North, and that when both factions at the North stand upon the same platform, as now indicated, it is a matter of no consequence to us which faction goes into power We can only hope for peace by voting with the winners

The chief results of the census of the British Isles for 1871 are announced England and Wales are reported to have a population of 22 700,000, and Ireland 5 400 000 Of course these are not exact but are given in round numbers As they stand, however, they show that England and Wales have gained 2 700,000 since the census of 1861 when the return showed a population of 20,066 224 Ireland, on the other hand, has lost nearly 400,000

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1871.

"Chinese Cheap Labor," Once More.

A few days ago in referring to the platform adopted by the Republicans of California, we spoke of the seventh resolution thereof as quite unnecessary. This resolution is in relation to the Chinese in the United States, and is, to speak plainly, but little better than the common balderdash and claptrap of Democratic demagogues. The Vancouver Register, however, likes the resolution and regards it "as a departure in the right direction." It proceeds to say:

> To thoroughly sicken a man of partiality for "Chinese cheap labor," let him watch the workings of the "contract system" by which they have been supplied by the thousand to build railroads on this coast.

We have no partiality whatever for "Chinese cheap labor," but have many a time been "thoroughly sickened" by the twaddle of demagogues who have sought to gain votes of white men by telling them that the country was being "ruined" by Chinese labor, and that the only way to arrest the fearful evil was to vote the said demagogues into office. This language is almost invariably addressed by unscrupulous and self-seeking politicians to the unthinking classes, and has but one purpose. Does anybody suppose that when Gov. Grover was stumping Oregon last year and devoting all his time to harangues about the Chinese, his object was to convince the people of the presence of a real danger? He was simply seeking an election, and was pursuing base courses to gain it.

Our position is, that there is nothing in the "Chinese question" to make a pother about. The comparatively few Chinese who have come to this country have been, on the whole, an advantage to it in an industrial point of view, and in the Pacific States have supplied a real want for labor. They are [illegible] likely to ever come in large numbers, [illegible] experience of the last dozen years [illegible] the talk about an "inundation" of [illegible] the merest bosh. They who suppose that the advent of ten thousand Chinese [illegible] seriously affect the labor [illegible] of the country are but superficial [illegible]. It is true that Chinese have been employed in building railroads on this coast. [illegible] was lucky that we had them, as we were thereby enabled to obtain railroads some years sooner than we should otherwise have [illegible]. This has been an incalculable advantage to this section of country. Let us judge [illegible] than by the windy prognostications or shallow claptraps of self-ag[illegible] politicians.

[illegible] absolutely nothing in this so-called Chinese question the Republican party should make an attempt to initiate the demagogy of Democratic politicians by harping upon it. Besides, such a course will do the Republican party no good. It is tantamount to a confession that a wrong exists, and puts the party on the defensive. Democrats should be permitted to monopolize that sort of political capital. Republicans never [illegible] with them at it, and need [illegible]. These are the reasons why we spoke as we did about the seventh resolution of the California Republican platform. There is no reason that we can discover, why the Republican party should lend itself to the perpetuation of shams and humbugs.

A Justification.

Mr. Bill Sykes Watkinds comes before the public in the character of an abused and injured man. A long letter from him finds a place in the Herald the object of which appears to be to show that in trying to kill Clarke he simply acted in self-defense! Here is his statement:

> I [illegible] up to him, asking him [illegible] not published lies enough about me. At the same time slapping him in the face. He immediately commenced stabbing at me with his knife, before I touched him with anything else. I kept out of reach of his knife, except the point, which I afterwards discovered had cut my clothing in three places, one stroke cutting my watch case. I retreated, until my arm striking an awning post, the whip I had been using fell from my hand. After getting off the sidewalk, and Clarke still striking at me, I drew a pistol and fired.

In the first place Mr. Bill Sykes Watkinds states that he slapped Clarke in the face—that is, he struck him with his open hand. But Clarke resented the indignity and [illegible] fight. Watkinds retreated, his arm struck a post and the whip he had been using fell from his hand. He then began to shoot. This, of course, is a sufficient exculpation. Clarke was so utterly unreasonable that he declined to be slapped in the face. He was making it uncomfortably warm for the respected gentleman who was trying to horsewhip him when the latter in pure self-defense emptied his revolver at him. So it was all Clarke's fault. Mr. Watkinds has made this as plain as is the fact that his respected progenitor, Mr. William Sykes, whom he resembles in many points of character, was not to blame for certain acts in which he was concerned, but that the whole fault lay at the door of that bold, bad, ruffianly boy, Oliver Twist!

An Oregon Democratic paper boasts that the rebel General Forrest testified before the Committee on Southern outrages that there is no such organization as the Ku Klux, and that colored men are not maltreated or murdered at the South. This from Forrest, the hero of the frightful butchery of colored people at Fort Pillow, seems to be conclusive to the Democratic paper alluded to.

California papers are pestering Gov. Haight dreadfully about his "Amador war." Many of them publish ludicrous accounts of his "campaign," and some of them illustrate the "military movements" with maps and drawings. The Governor is dreadfully bored by it.

Mayor Selby of San Francisco, is asked to become a candidate for re-election. The Chronicle says that the people with one accord join in the request.

A translation of Goethe's "Faust" from German into Hebrew was one of the last works upon which the late Dr. Max Letteris, the famous Orientalist, was engaged. He died in Vienna on May 19th, aged 76.

The San Jose Independent of June 28th, says: "The young man who will soon undertake the walk to New York has had his suit made, and when dressed looks like a Roman gladiator. Next week he will commence training—walking over the State."

A dispatch from St. Johns, N. B., June 29th, gives this: The delegation from the New Brunswick Government to the Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island Governments, to endeavor to procure a concerted action against the fishery clause of the Washington treaty, returned yesterday. They are very reticent as to their doing it, but say that the fishermen and fish traders of the Island and Nova Scotia are favorable to the treaty, and intimate that owing to the game the Nova Scotia Government is playing with the Ottawa Government it is not to be relied upon to oppose the treaty. The belief is the deputation has failed in its mission.

PACIFIC COAST DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—Sensational reports having been published here to the effect that the National Guards at Sutter Creek were served with miserable food and had mutinied in consequence, Col. Barnes telegraphed for information and received the following reply:

"SUTTER CREEK, July 6.—To Col. W. H. L. Barnes: Your dispatch is received. The report is false in every particular. There is not a word of truth in it—not a single word. It is a slander upon the most orderly and soldierly body of men ever under arms.

(Signed) I. F. BRONSON,
Major Commanding Battalion."

The Alta Water Company, to take the waters of the north and south forks of the American river, the north fork of the middle fork of the American river, the tributaries of the Truckee river and conduct them to San Francisco; corporated to-day; capital stock one million, divided into 1,000 shares. Trustees, A. W. Von Schmidt, J. French, R. Samson, G. H. Ensign and C. W. H. Coney.

To-day Judge Stanley sentenced David Calderwood to pay a fine of $500, and be imprisoned 5 days for contempt of Court, in sending men to reoccupy land in the western part of the city, from which he had been ejected by law. While he was rendering his opinion Calderwood said to his lawyer, loud enough for the Court to hear it, "That is a lie." At the close of his remarks Judge Stanley called the lawyer up, placed him under oath, and asked him if Calderwood did not make the remark, which he reluctantly admitted. Judge Stanley then ordered Calderwood to pay an additional fine of $500, and be imprisoned five days more; and on failure to pay the fine be imprisoned one day for each $2. He then adjourned Court.

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—Plans for the San Pedro breakwater were completed and sent to Washington for approval. Upon their return work will be immediately commenced. It is anticipated that three to four thousand feet of it will be completed this season.

Chinaman Killed.

PLACERVILLE, July 6.—A Chinaman was shot and killed at Cold Springs in this county last night, while robbing sluices.

The Fourth at Unionville.

UNIONVILLE, July 6.—We had a pleasant 4th; 15 heavy guns were fired in commemoration of '76; the Sons and Daughters of temperance paraded the streets with banners in grand display. An eloquent oration was delivered by Mrs. Leonard. The night passed off with one of the gayest parties and largest turn-outs of the season.

Man Drowned at Benicia.

BENICIA, July 6.—Portions of the skeleton of a man were found on the shore of a large island opposite this place, the body having floated there. Many bones are missing. Two dollars were found in the sand near the bones, also the remains of a black woolen scarf with large meshes, and a pair of brown pants. Coroner Holbrook took charge of the remains.

LIVERMORE, July 6.—The farmers of Livermore Valley are very busy harvesting and threshing. The crop will be six times greater than that of last year. A pet bear belonging to Doctors Knight and Special, broke from its cage to day, and running through the streets, caused great consternation but doing no damage further than upsetting Dr. Eades, injuring him internally. His bearship was captured near Feathorville by two Spaniards. The bear is to be sent to Woodward's Gardens.

Railroads as Promoters of Productive Industry.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

On the 1st day of January next, the United States will have not less than fifty thousand miles of Railroads in operation, and will be extending them at the rate of over five thousand miles per annum. We judge that this exceeds the annual construction of railroads in all the rest of the world; so that, if we have not now half the number of miles of railway on the planet, we soon shall have. Exact computations are not essential to our present purpose, which is to indicate the influence of railroads upon the development and expansion of our National Industry. Let Texas serve as our first illustration.

Five years ago, Texas may have had two hundred miles of railway in all—possibly more—but all she had was not equal in value to a single line of two hundred miles connecting her principal seaport with her capital. Her wagon-roads were few and wretched—little more than tracks, which crossed her numerous water courses by fords which served in seasons, when the streams were dry or inconsiderable, but were raging torrents after a heavy rain—sometimes impassable for weeks. The resulting difficulty and cost of transportation discouraged production and paralyzed industry. Though timber is abundant in Texas, the best of it grows well inland, and her early settled and more populous seaboard counties could more cheaply satisfy their needs by importation. Their flour and hams were, for a like reason, mainly drawn from the Ohio and upper Mississippi. Her fabrics and wares were of course brought from abroad, since her isolated planters afforded no markets sufficiently capacious to justify the establishment on her soil of those large manufactories wherein these are produced to advantage. Cotton and cattle were her only considerable exports, and these could only be delivered at their place of consumption at a cost for transportation which left but a meager recompense to the producers. Hence, thousands were sunk in indolence, dissuaded from systematic, persistent industry by their inability to dispose of its products at what they deemed fair prices. They could exist, after a coarse, rude fashion, on the product of two day's labor each per week; they could hardly more than subsist if they labored incessantly. Hence, general sloth.

To-day Texas has more than five hundred miles of railroads in operation; before the close of 1872, this extent will have been doubled, within 1875, she will have extended these to two thousand, and probably to twenty-five hundred. Two years hence, the interior of Texas will be practically nearer the seaboard cities of the Atlantic coast than Ohio was fifty years ago.

The consequent increase of production is and must be amazing to those ignorant or heedless of its main impulse. The next Federal Census will return from Texas considerably more than two millions of people, but the growth of her industry will have far outstripped that of her population. She may sell fewer cattle in 1880 than she did in 1870, but they will net thrice as much per head to the breeders; her export of cotton may or may not be larger than it now is, but the return to the growers will at any rate be larger; she is quite as likely then to be exporting as importing timber, corn, wheat, pork, lard, &c., which she now largely imports; her thousands of square miles of coal and iron ore will have begun before 1880 to add largely to her annual product; while nearly every variety of manufacture now excluded from her soil by the difficulty and expense of reaching adequate markets, will be employing her labor and increasing her wealth in season to affect materially the complexion of our next Census.

So with Nebraska, Colorado, Arizona, and all our Territories. Railroads will soon render habitable and productive vast regions which have still recently been doomed to eternal sterility and solitude. We confidently expect to see our country's annual production of gold and silver carried above one hundred millions of dollars within the present decade, while iron, copper, tin, lead, zinc, and other useful metals, will be largely obtained from regions whence civilized man has hitherto obtained nothing and expected very little.

Our agriculture and manufacture must largely profit by the prosperous activity of our mining. The ever increasing demand for food, shelter, machinery, implements, &c., throughout our Territories, will incite efforts to enhance the local supply by irrigation, steam plowing, and other mechanical devices. Though vast quantities will be introduced by railroads from the valleys of the Columbia, Sacramento and Joaquin, as well as from those of the Ohio and Mississippi, the prices, of grain and meat will be considerably, those of vegetables and fruits largely, higher in and about the Rocky Mountains, Colorado valley, and the Great Basin, than in the fertile valleys on either side. We shall soon export to Europe proportionately less food than now, because we shall do better by converting that food into metals around our own mines. The opening up of such capacious inland markets for our wares and fabrics will secure them advantages for which they struggle desperately on our seaboard with the treasured experience and low priced labor of Europe. Hence, we confidently anticipate signal benefits to every department of American industry from the new and vastly improved channels of intercommunication now being or soon to be opened through all the less accessible and least developed regions of our spacious Union. Railroads double the efficiency and the recompense of labor by diminishing the cost of sending its products to the points were they are needed for consumption.

GEORGIA—THE OLD LINE WHIGS MOVING.—A letter from Atlanta, Ga., dated June 14th says:

A change is likely soon to take place, greatly strengthening the Republican party, by adding to it a large number of influential white men, and this change will result from the general acceptance by the Northern Democracy of the Vallandigham New Departure platform. The present Democratic party of Georgia contains thousands of old Whigs, who have consented to be called Democrats with no little reluctance, and solely because they believed the Democracy to be a sectional party pledged to the interests of the South, which they were bound to support for that reason. If the National Democratic party takes ground upon all questions affecting the South, identical with that occupied by the Republicans, these former Whigs will be freed from their allegiance to it. It no longer has any claims to their support. The political struggles in which they were engaged before the war gave them a strong antipathy to the very name of Democracy, and, since reconstruction, they have acted with their old political enemies with a strong feeling of repugnance and a desire to be released, as soon as possible, from such companionship. The Whigs were in the main opposed to secession, and the fact that they were overruled gives them an additional cause for hostile feeling against the Democrats, who, they declare, are responsible for all the misfortunes and miseries secession has brought upon the South. It is easy to see that this Whig element naturally belongs to the Republican party, and will soon gravitate toward that party. The Whigs comprise a large share of the wealth and intelligence of the white population of Georgia, and nearly all the men of liberal and progressive ideas. As soon as this element becomes Republican, it will carry with it almost the solid negro vote of the State, which will leave the Democrats in a small minority.

These views were indorsed to-day by a prominent politician of extensive influence throughout the State. He told me he had been a Whig from boyhood, and had never given a Democratic vote in his life, except since Reconstruction, and then he only did it because he believed he was acting in the interest of his State. I asked him how soon he believed this seperation of the Whigs and Democrats in Georgia would take place. "Very soon in State politics," he replied. "There are questions of internal improvements and other local interests that will early cause the division; but in national politics it may not occur until after the next Presidential election.

TWO HEALTHY GIRLS.—Girls brought up with plenty of money, and with their habits of having everything done for them, are apt to grow delicate, fretful and unhealthy by their very indulgence. Of course this injures their minds as well as their bodies, and sudden poverty would find them without either hands or brains to help themselves. "Gail Hamilton describes a couple of girls of a very different kind: "I know two girls born to ease and wealth. In their early youth they were rich, careless, free. They walked, and drove, and rode, and hunted, and boated, and drank great draughts of happiness and health. Presently trouble came. Affairs were involved. The stalwart father became a confirmed and hopeless invalid. Did they sit down and wring their hands? Did they go moaning all their days begging men to give them a little sewing, a little copying, a little teaching? Not they. They began in a small way, in a country town, to keep a 'dry goods and grocery store.' They were always prompt. They gave fair measure and right change. They kept what people wanted; and if anything was called for which they had not, they put it down on their list. They had the cleanest and nicest grocery for miles around. They hired a clerk and bought a horse, and built a house, and are at this moment independent property holders, as well as most piquant and agreeable women."

According to the Elmira (N. Y.) Advertiser, a drug clerk in Williamsport recently put up a prescription for a young lady friend of a dose of castor oil. She innocently asked how it could be taken without tasting. He promised to explain to her, and in the meantime proposed to drink a glass of soda with her. When they had finished, he said: "My friend, you have taken your oil and did not know it." The young lady was nearly crazy, and cried, "Oh, dear, it wasn't for myself I wanted the oil; it was for my mother!"

TURNS UP AGAIN.—Henry S. Foote, who has been in every political party and faction by turns for the last twenty years, and was most distinguished as a violent opponent of Jefferson Davis in the rebel Congress, says a favorable word for Governor Hoffman for President.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A Texas paper says: "We are looking for the Democrats to come out for negro social equality, now that they have come out for negro political equality, for they have always said that the two were inseparably connected."

Mr. Vallandigham was avowedly a candidate for United States Senator, to succeed Mr. Sherman, and, as the Columbus Statesman says, proposed a thorough canvass of the State of Ohio in the present campaign to advance his interests as well as promote the success of his party.

The tenor of the discussion by the press throughout the country of the "new departure" declared by the late Mr. Vallandigham and his followers, indicate pretty conclusively that if the new movement is to be insisted on, it will result in a hopeless division of the Democratic party.

AMUSEMENTS.

PARLOR SKATING —The interior of the skating pavilion presented a lively scene last evening, as indeed it does almost every evening It would be amazing to see how many people visit this place of amusement, if it were not for the fact that it is a fascinating sport, both for the spectator and the participant It seems really to be yet growing in popular favor Everybody skates —the young the old, men, women and children —and everybody else goes to see them do it.

The Early Desperadoes of Virginia City

Mark Twain is writing up his experience of Virginia City life, when he was reporting on the Enterprise, and recounts in the following manner how pleasant his reportorial duties were at the time

Virginia city was full of desperadoes, and some of the pleasantest newspaper reporting I ever did was done in those days, because I reported the inquests on the entire lot of them nearly We had a fresh one pretty much every morning Toward the last it was melancholy to see how the material was running short Those were halcyon days! I don t know what halcyon days are but that is the proper expression to use in this connection, I believe

Jack Williams was one of the luckiest of the Virginia City desperadoes He killed a good many men He was a kind hearted man and gave all his custom to a poor undertaker who was trying to get along But by and by somebody poked a double barreled shot-gun through a crack while Williams was at breakfast and riddled him at such a rate there was hardly enough of him left to hold an inquest on—and then the poor unfortunate undertaker s best friend was gone and he had to take in his sign Thus he was stricken in the midst of his prosperity and his happiness—for he was just on the point of getting married when Jack Williams was taken away from him and of course he had to give it up then

It is said that the first twenty six graves in the cemetery at Virginia City were those of men who died by the bullet And the first six in another of the towns contained the bodies of a desperado and five of his victims —and there in the bosom of his family, made dear to him by ties of blood, he calmly sleeps unto this day

At Rocky Bridge Station, in the Rocky Mountains in the old days of overland pony expresses and stages, I had the gorgeous honor of breakfasting with Mr Slade, the prince of all the desperadoes who killed twenty six men in his time, who used to cut off his victim s ears and send them as presents to their relatives and who bound one of his victims hand and foot and practiced on him with his revolver for hours together—a proceeding, which seems almost inexcusable until we reflect that Rocky Bridge is away off in the dull solitude of the mountains and that the poor desperadoes have hardly any amusements Slade afterwards went to Montana and began to thin out the population as usual—for he took a great interest in trimming the census and regulating the vote—but finally the vigilance committee captured him and hanged him, giving him ten minutes to prepare himself in (The papers said he cried on the scaffold

Michael McLaughlin of Philadelphia, who shot James McGee of that city about a year ago gave himself up to Officer Fraser of the Broadway squad June 30th, stating that the case had so preyed on his mind that he could not rest He was taken to the Central office and locked up until advices are received from Philadelphia

The Connecticut Senate by a vote of twelve to six June 29th passed a bill appropriating $500 000 for a new State House at Hartford, and authorizing the city to appropriate a sum not exceeding $1,000 000 toward the same The State appropriation is not to be used until the city furnish the usual semi amount.

How We Used to be Physicked.

Who does not remember the time when spring purgation was considered indispensable to summer health? No matter for wry faces the inevitable salts and senna rhubarb or calomel and jalap must be administered These "spring medicines" the youngsters were told were to keep them hale and hearty during the summer We all know now that this was a fallacy, that new vigor not depletion, is what is required at the commencement of the summer solstice As a preparation for the enervating effects of oppressive summer weather, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is highly expedient This famous vegetable preparation has three prominent properties It renovates purifies and regulates all the functions of the body It is composed exclusively of pure vegetable productions viz the essential principle of Monongahela Rye, and the most efficacious tonic and alterative roots barks and gums known to medical botanists Hence it is an absolutely safe medicine, and no tincture of the Pharmacopœia can compare with it either in purity or in the variety of its objects and its comprehensive results Happily for mankind the theory that it was necessary to prostrate a patient in order to cure him is forever exploded, and the true philosophical doctrine that vigor is the great antagonist of disease has taken its place Hostetter s Bitters is an invigorant, and hence it is the proper medicine for the feeble at this most trying season of the year

Be sure that you obtain the genuine article as there are innumerable vile imitations in the market Look to the ornamental stamp, the engraved label and the name blown into the glass Hostetter s Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Portland, Thursday, July 6, 1871

Gold at New York, 113½.

Currency quotations at Portland, 88¼, buying; 89¼@90c, selling.

Exchange—On San Francisco, ½ per cent.; on New York, 1½ per cent.

Telegraphic transfers—On New York, 1¼ per cent premium.

Interest—Bank rates for short loans, 1 per cent.

There is considerable complaint at the beginning of this month about the scarcity of coin. Collectors inform us that they have not in many months experienced so much trouble in the collection of city bills as upon the first of July. It is not a matter of surprise that there should be some tightness in the money market just now. Our crops were mostly sold out some weeks ago, and not much money is, therefore, being received on that account. The usual annual supply of dust from the mines has not yet begun to come to hand. Meantime the constant flow of coin coming from the country, for the purchase of the multitude of articles we consume, is a constantly operating [illegible] of depletion. Whenever the supplying sources are stopped even for a short time, the volume of money very soon becomes sensibly decreased. The shipment of money from the coast, this year, thus far, falls far short of the usual aggregate for the half year. The statistics of shipment, kept at San Francisco, show that from January 1st to June 17th, the total export of [illegible] was only $8,617,898 21, as compared with $17,635,225 48 during the same time last year. Money is represented as being plentiful at San Francisco.

In trade circles we find hardly so much activity as during last week, though business must be reported as very fair. There are but few changes to note either in prices or the conditions and directions of trade.

Agricultural goods continue to move off well, and harvesting stocks are getting pretty well thinned down. All prices as before reported.

Building material—The scarcity of lime prevailing for two or three weeks has been temporarily removed by late arrivals, but the supply is not sufficient to last more than a week or two. Lumber continues scarce and prices are stiff.

Dry Goods—We find a change of prices in all cotton goods to-day. The sudden advance of raw cotton and unfavorable reports concerning the cotton crops have created some excitement in the market, and in a good many instances the [illegible] refuse to sell goods at even advanced rates. It is believed the advance has only fairly commenced, and that higher figures will rule as soon as the fall trade begins. Woolens still maintain an upward tendency. Our merchants must look for higher ranges both for domestic and foreign dry goods, this fall.

Hardware maintains the even tenor it has held through most of the summer—prices steady and firm and trade good.

Grocery lines are enjoying a fair trade at the quotations ruling for a month past.

Produce—We note another decline in flour at San Francisco. At the close of June, choicest Oregon extras could not be placed above $7 25, while less popular brands were 50 cts. per barrel less. Yesterday morning, [illegible] dispatches advised us that the millers had marked down 25 cts. per barrel for all extra grades. The range of Oregon extras was given at $6 75@7 25, the latter [illegible] fancy brands. Holders here do not, however, abate their prices. Wheat is a little firmer, and there is some inquiry at our highest quotation, for white shipping grades. Oats are not quite so strong as for the last two or three weeks. Since the 1st of January we have shipped to San Francisco the following articles of Oregon produce and provisions. Flour, qr sks, 443,180; wheat, [illegible] 30,303, oats, sks, 4,234; salmon, bbls, 3,092; hf [illegible] 987, pkgs, 13,658; bacon, pkgs, 1,592; beef, bbls, [illegible] 20, hams, pkgs, 194; butter, pkgs, 557; lard, [illegible] 3, pork, bbls, 1,216; dried apples, pkgs, 1,025; [illegible] bxs, 47,431.

[illegible]—Bacon is a little down again with a drooping tendency in the market. For some time Oregon bacon [illegible] nearly crowded out of the California [illegible] shipments from Chicago; but the excellence of the Oregon article has asserted itself, as it has [illegible] past, against first one raid and then [illegible] of June 30 represent that our bacon [illegible] preference.

[illegible] San Francisco Commercial Herald of June [illegible] spring clip has about all found a market. The few stray lots yet to come forward will add [illegible] aggregate. Oregon and southern wools are arriving freely, and meet with ready sale at full [illegible]. The Oriflamme, from Oregon, brought down 237 bales, and the Prince Alfred, from [illegible] 172 bales. Of a far higher class than any other proprietary medicine of the day stands

TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT

And for this reason: It is an exact counterpart of one of the most valuable natural medicines in the world. We refer to the great Seltzer Spring of Germany, to which thousands of the dyspeptic, the bilious, the rheumatic, and the victims of venal diseases resort annually and return to their homes convalescent or cured. The Aperient is one of the first, and by far the most successful of all the efforts made to reproduce, in a portable form, the popular mineral waters of Europe. See that you purchase only the genuine article.
